

Project: Stax Records Artists and Important Music

Project Overview:

- I want people to be able to look at my site and get a good idea of what Stax achieved in a short, concise description of their important artists and music. Their discography and recording history are very extensive and long, but my goal is just to highlight a few of their really influential moments.

Resources:

- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Stax_Records

The Wikipedia page provides a lot of nice contexts for Stax and its history; for example, how they were known as Satellite Records before they changed their name. They also provide historical context as well as an extensive list of their artists and albums.

<https://staxrecords.com/>

The official site also provides a lot of similar information but has more insight to the history and current workings of Stax Museum.

Audience:

- I think of this website as a place for anyone slightly interested in music, specifically soul and/or funk from the 60s/70s. The people who read this may have just heard of Stax and want to know a little bit about it, so this should serve as nice intro.

Message:

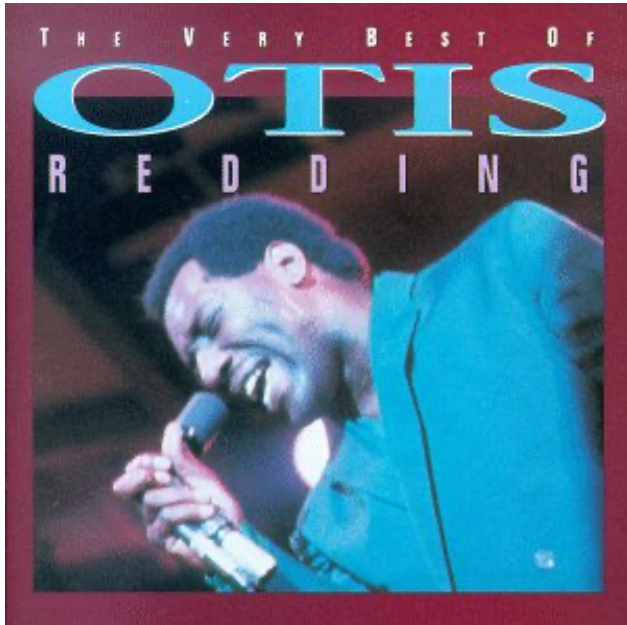

- The message of this page is really just that Stax was an influential record label, and that a lot of good music came from the label in their prime.

Visual Style:

- I'll probably use a lot of black, white and red as those are the colors of the Stax logo.
