

Final Mockups / Initial Build

Both the initial build and final mockup match exactly what we talked about changing last time, looks good to continue towards building the final site.

Concerns:

Making it into the mobile version (Hamburger Menu)

Watching demos for drop down bar/ hamburger menu navigation

For albums page, it would work better for the text to be to the right of the album cover, maybe just put text within div or other container after album cover image and it should work.

Change the album name to a link that goes to a music site where that music is available (probably Spotify for convenience)